COAL MINES ARE STILL IDLE

UNION MINERS AWAIT INSTRUCTIONS FROM UNION LEADERS BEFORE RETURN TO WORK

ORDERS WILL COME FROM INDIANAPOLIS DIRECT

BELIEVED FULL PRODUCTION WILL RESULT AS SOON AS LOCALS GET OFFICIAL NOTICE OF RECALL

MAY COME IN TODAY'S MAILBAG

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 12—Coal miners who have been on strike since November 1, were expected by officials of the United Mine Workers of America to start returning to work today. Normal production of coal, union leaders believe, will not be reached for some time. A few miners may even stay out until negotiations which open in Washington Friday are completed. Several district leaders were evidently dissatisfied with the action of the officials in complying with the demands of the United States District Judge that the strike be rescinded. Orders for the rescinding of the strike order were in the mail before six o'clock last night.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Reports of the return to work of striking miners were anxiously awaited by officials here today while Secretary of Labor Wilson went on with his plans for a mediation conference of miners and operators called for Friday. Although on the face, the government believes the miners will resume work as soon as notified of the cancellation of the strike call, there were many who privately expressed the belief that thousands of strikers would remain out as the strike call was revoked under the order of the Federal Court and protest.

JOHNSTOWN, Nov. 12—The union miners in this sector are preparing to start to work following orders issued at Indianapolis yesterday that they return to work. Twelve thousand miners are expected to go back tomorrow. The operators say production will be normal by the end of the week.

The union miners of District No. 2 are still idle and no doubt will be until the local unions throughout the district receive orders from the national headquarters to return to work. The district office at Clearfield announced this afternoon that up until late this afternoon it has not received any instructions from Indianapolis as to what procedure to follow to get the men back to work. The district office pointed out that the strike call was sent to the local unions direct from national headquarters and not through the local district office and this being the case they presumed that the recall order will in like manner come from Indianapolis direct to the local unions instead of through President Brophy. However, a different procedure may be outlined when President Brophy arrives here this evening on the evening train.

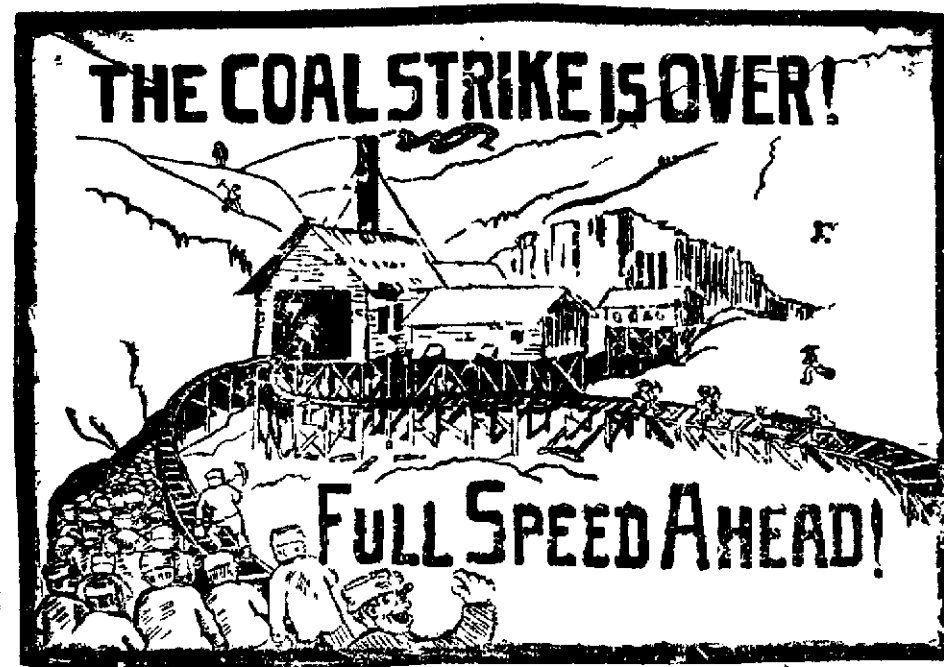

All of the mines in this district blew their whistles for work this morning and had everything in shape to start coal production. This move was not so much from a belief that the miners would return to work as it was to follow out the instructions of the federal government that every opportunity be presented to the miners to go to work. The general statement that all available covers the situation although a very few small mines are working through out the district. It is possible that the orders to return to work will be carried in today's mail and that more mines will be in operation tomorrow and that by the end of the week all will be going full swing.

WESTERN I. W. W.'S. KILL 3 SERVICE MEN IN ARMISTICE DAY PARADE

CENTRALIA, WASH., Nov. 12—The fatal shooting of four former soldiers during the Armistice day parade here yesterday was the result of carefully laid plans of I. W. W. leaders. It was revealed in a statement by "Brick" Smith, alleged I. W. W. shortly before he was lynched. The I. W. W. planned to shoot as many of the soldiers as possible.

OTTO EPPERS WILL BECOME A REAL CARTOONIST NOW

"The King is dead! Long live the King!" Otto Eppers, the erratic but worth while former "King of the Bootblacks" is "King" no more. Gone from his hands are the implements of the profession in which he acquired his self-styled title. "The King," like his more famous predecessor, Alexander the Great is seeking other worlds to conquer and having demonstrated by his conduct since coming to our town that he has the stuff in him which warrants a trial over five Clearfield citizens' appreciation. Otto's laudable ambition have satisfied then willingness to take a chance on "the King" making good and have made it possible for him to follow his mind's bent and attempt to equip himself as a cartoonist.

Otto, as is well known to a familiar with his work in Clearfield, has a great deal of mechanical or utility skill with brush and pencil and during his service in an army camp in New Jersey was privileged to supply very creditable cartoons for the newspaper. Since being mustered out of the service Otto has been working hard in his shoe shining parlor to keep his family and devoted what spare time he could to working on a correspondence course in one of the country's leading schools for cartoonists. His improvement was quite marked and believing that with more time and nothing else to bother him he could overcome the unfortunate lack of opportunity of his earlier life and make something of himself Otto appealed to his friends for assistance to tide him over his "school days." Clearfield people will help any man to make good and Otto soon found this out. He was last week enabled to close up his shoe parlor and devote all his time to his lessons and is working away with that determination that surely surmount all obstacles and wins the heights of success.

The Progress has secured a copy of the "King" in his efforts and he will thus be given the opportunity of developing his skill by actual cartoon work during the coming season. Otto's first effort appeared in Monday evening's Progress. A second will appear at an early date and they will continue from time to time.

Here's hoping the king conquer in the hard task he has set for himself. He deserves to succeed.

OPERATORS AND MINERS CALLED TO CAPITAL

Secretary Of Labor Wilson On The Job To Close Up Scale Agreement With All Haste

BOTH SIDES RECEPTIVE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—The call of the coal strike has been a great deal from the mind of Secretary of Labor Wilson. He has been on all sides of the scale and is satisfied. Every one is convinced that the crisis has been passed. The government immediately took the initiative to bring the operators and miners together with the result that by 7:30 last night acceptance had been received from both parties indicating that they would meet Secretary of Labor Wilson in a new conference Friday morning to reach a settlement of all matters in dispute. By agreement with the other members of the cabinet, Secretary Wilson immediately took steps to bring together in Washington Friday, representatives of both the miners and the mine operators for the purpose of opening negotiations for a wage scale and new working agreement.

Messages were sent by Secretary Wilson to John L. Lewis, president of the U. M. W. of A., and Chairman Thomas T. Brewster, of the coal operators' association, assuring them and their representatives to meet in Washington Friday.

Harry N. Taylor, president of the National Coal Association, with headquarters in Washington, was also included in Secretary Wilson's invitation, so that the joint meeting of miners and mine operators might be representative of the entire coal industry.

Cabinet officials were of the opinion that it was far better to bring the miners and the mine operators together by proposed conference than to try to settle difficulties by a board of arbitration.

American Federation of Labor officials said that they had no statement to make regarding the recall of the strike order. To say that they were surprised at the recall of the order, after the executive council had endorsed the strike, would be putting it mildly.

Not only were they surprised at the action of President Lewis to lay, but plainly they were puzzled. It is safe to say that neither President Goetz nor any of the other members of the executive council had any idea that the strike would be recalled.

The renewal of negotiations between the miners and the mine operators does not mean, it was said, that all of the miners will return to work. It is conceded in both camps, and by the operators, that it is likely that some of the miners will refuse to follow the lead of President Lewis and lay out until the negotiations are concluded.

But the general opinion is that the strike is now at an end, in fact, as well as in name, and that so many of the miners will go to work that something approaching normal production will be secured.

UNION MACHINISTS VOTING AS PRELUDE TO EXPECTED RAIL STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Three hundred and seventy-five thousand union machinists in the United States were voting today on a general strike in connection with the railroad labor situation.

"The vote is returnable late this week," said Wm. Johnson, President of the International Machinists' Union. "The question to be settled by the men is whether they shall strike if Congress passed anti-strike and compulsory arbitration legislation now, before it in connection with settling the railroad problems. If I know the machinists they will quit work the minute this legislation passes."

One hundred and twenty-five thousand union machinists are employed in railroad shops and are provided in the ballot they would be called out. Later union machinists in all industries would be called out to support them in a sympathetic strike if necessary. The machinists vote is being taken at a time when members of the great brotherhoods are conferring with President Duffell here. An anti-strike short of their demands is said to have been made today it was learned.

NOTED PHYSICIAN WILL LECTURE TOMORROW EVE

DOCTOR M'CREA WILL TELL CITIZENS OF CLEARFIELD COUNTY HOW TO AVOID CONTRACTING TUBERCULOSIS

EVERY MAN AND WOMAN SHOULD GO

It was Doctor McCrea's brother who wrote the now famous poem "On Flanders Field." Maybe the doctor has just as interesting a message for you on Thursday evening so do not miss him.

Do you know that tuberculosis kills annually in the United States 150,000 people?

Do you know that the dreaded "white plague" reaps a victim every three minutes, 20 every hour and 480 every day of the 365 days in each year right here in the good old U. S. A.?

Do you know that there are at least 1,000,000 active cases of tuberculosis in the United States?

Do you know that scientific investigation has revealed that there are 15 cases of tuberculosis for every death, or a total in the country at large of over 2,000,000?

Do you know that no disease is more insidious than tuberculosis? It strikes silently, and often has been long at work before it is discovered. A large percentage of cases are those of persons who do not know they have it. Draft boards and army doctors discovered more than 100,000 cases among the young men caught in the selective service call, the pick of the land.

Do you know that one-third of all who die between the ages of 18 and 45 years are killed by tuberculosis?

If you do not know these facts then you are not only very poorly informed but you are daily laying yourself liable to contract, with this dread disease, if not already infected with its poisonous virus.

Contrary to a stubborn popular belief tuberculosis is not an inherited disease.

It is preventable and we are there fore able or should be able to stop this awful sacrifice of lives. But in order to accomplish something along this line we must all cooperate with the agencies that are now fighting tuberculosis. What is needed is education of our people generally, more nurses, dispensaries, sanatoria, hospitals and open air schools while the undiagnosed cases must all be sought out. To this work the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated state and local associations, which are financed largely by the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, are giving particular attention. It now rests the co-operation of the people of Clearfield in a campaign that will begin with a public meeting in the High School auditorium on Thursday evening, November 13th, and that will not cease until the "Great White Plague" has been effectually stamped out regardless of the time it takes to bring about that much to be desired condition of affairs.

This is the biggest problem confronting the American people today and on Thursday evening Clearfield people will be given the opportunity to hear the biggest man in Pennsylvania on this all-important proposition. He is none other than Doctor Thomas McCrea, Professor of the Practice of Medicine, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia and President of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

This meeting is being held under the auspices of the Clearfield County Public Health Committee and should have the attention of every person interested not alone in the public welfare but the health of himself and his family.

Dr. McCrea has a message you will never regret having heard and he should be greeted by a capacity audience on the occasion of his appearance here.

Dr. McCrea's lecture will be entirely free of charge. Everybody is not only invited but urged to attend. No fees, no collections, just an opportunity to get some first hand information on the greatest menace confronting our people today, from an expert who is devoting all the energies at his command toward the eradication of tuberculosis.

SENATOR MARTIN DIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Senator Martin, of Virginia, died today according to word received by his secretary here. Senator Martin until his illness which began several months ago, was Democratic leader in the Senate. He carried the administration's problems on the floor during the war and his long hours of intense activity on the Senate floor are believed to have undermined his health and brought on the general break down which resulted in his death today.

STOCK MAINTENANCE RATION

Silage, Corn, Stover, Straw and Unmarketable Hay Should Be Given Cattle to Be Grazed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The greatest obstacle in developing the grazing industry in many eastern and central sections is the cost of wintering the stock. It is impossible to buy young cattle or sheep in the spring in sufficient quantities and at a price to yield a satisfactory profit from the summer grazing.

One of two plans must be followed. A breeding herd may be kept to produce the stock, as is practiced on the ranges of the West, or young stock may be purchased in the fall—the plan followed by the grazers in the bluegrass region of the Virginias and Kentucky. Either method necessitates the wintering of animals.

Light here should be laid down a hard-and-fast rule. Cattle which are to be grazed the following summer should be carried through the winter on a strictly maintenance ration. Silage, corn stover, straw, and unmarketable hay should form its basis. The silage is almost indispensable for economical feeding of such stock. No grain should be fed if it can be avoided. It has been the experience of grazers in the bluegrass region of the Virginias that the winter ration of feed for the period weighing the same as those which made a gain of that amount.

CALCULATIONS OF HOG FEEDS

Light Thrown on Proper Combinations for Different Purposes—Big Aid to Growers.

The calculation of rations with the aid of feeding standards and tables will prove both interesting and profitable, for it will throw much light on the proper combinations of food for different purposes. At the same time it promotes a spirit of inquiry and close observation on the part of the farmer, which is one of the first requisites of a successful feeder.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow skin, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 10c and 25c.

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of that pain and lameness! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Many Clearfield people have used them and know how effective they are. Here's a Clearfield case.

Mrs. Paul Kline, 326 Sixth street, gave the following statement December 7th, 1915: "Some years ago I was troubled with pains across the small of my back and my back ached and throbbled all the time. It was painful for me to bend my body in any way and this trouble kept me awake a night. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills so I used some, procuring them at Thatcher's Drug Store. Doan's entirely removed the trouble and since that time, my back and kidneys have given me no annoyance. I gladly recommend this medicine to others suffering that way."

On February 18th, 1919, Mrs. Kline added: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills in some years now. I still think as highly of them as I did when I recommended them in 1915."

JAMES PAIGE ALIVE AND WELL

James Paige a soldier of Boardman, has not been heard from by his family since April 27th at which time he was in China, and, according to his letters expected to soon sail for home. As nothing further was ever heard from him his family was much worried over the lack of news. His parents visited Clearfield and laid the matter before John M. Bain who very obligingly took the matter up with Congressman Evan J. Jones who in a matter of only three days received the information from the war department that Mr. Paige was alive and well with his regiment at the city of Tien Tsin, China. The Paige family had written several letters direct to the War department, but were unable to get any reply. On receiving the good news Mr. Bain immediately tried to get into touch with the Paige family to let them know that their son was alive and well and, as is usually the case the message was bungled and the members of the family were told just the opposite from the truth. Mr. Bain takes this method of advising the friends and family that his knowledge is to the effect that James Paige is alive and well in far off China.

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skin seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving relief. Musterole is a clean, white substance, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Many doctors and nurses strongly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, earache, nose running, headache, chilblains, frost-bitten feet—outside of the chest (it often cures pneumonia). It is alive! It penetrates! 30c and 60c jars, hospitals also stock.

ACCEPTED CONFERENCE INVITATION

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—The general committee of the United Mine Workers voted to accept an invitation to meet representatives of the government and mine operators in Washington Friday. The action followed the decision of the miners to rescind the strike order in compliance with the order issued by Federal Judge Anderson.

The invitation for the conference came from Secretary of Labor Wilson to John L. Lewis. He also received an invitation from Thomas Brewster, chairman of the operators association, asking for a meeting of the scale committees of the miners and operators at Washington. Secretary Wilson asked that the meeting be held Friday while Mr. Brewster proposed Monday as the date.

Letters are delivered in some of the islands of the Tonga group, in the Pacific, by skyrockets fired from steamers.

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skin seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving relief. Musterole is a clean, white substance, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Many doctors and nurses strongly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, earache, nose running, headache, chilblains, frost-bitten feet—outside of the chest (it often cures pneumonia). It is alive! It penetrates! 30c and 60c jars, hospitals also stock.

I saw it in The Progress.

GOOD WOMAN DIES

NEAR KYLERTOWN

Mrs. Nancy Hipple, the beloved wife of George Hipple, residing near Kylertown, died at the family home on Tuesday, October 28th, 1919. Her death came suddenly, while she was alone in the house, and while her husband was doing some work at the barn. Her death was the result of heart trouble, with which she had been ailing for some time.

Deceased, who was aged about 65 years, spent most of her life in the vicinity where she died, and was beloved by all who knew her because of her many pleasing graces. She was a devoted member of the Baptist church, a most affectionate wife and mother, a kind neighbor and her demise has caused profound sorrow throughout the community. Her maiden name was Miss Nancy Zimmerman.

Besides her husband, she is survived by the following sons and daughters, viz: E. C. Alfred and Paul, residing near Kylertown; Alma, wife of Vernon Peters, of Ambridge, Pa.; Eva, wife of Morton Peters, of Grass Flat, and Ruth, with of Allen Butler of Winburne. She also leaves two brothers and one sister, Miles Zimmerman, of Clearfield; William, residing near Salem, Oregon; and Mrs. Frank Humpton, Betula, Pa. Twelve grandchildren also survive.

The funeral took place on Friday, October 31st, from the family home, and was in charge of Rev. S. A. Farver.

Get into the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles according to hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which, if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels; the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood, causing headaches, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood, and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

A RECIPE NEVER SEEN IN A COOK-BOOK

Here is a recipe never seen in a cook-book.

Take one under nourished child—add warm wraps—mix with hot milk and real butter—keep in the open air—and the child will serve.

If that recipe is followed, there'll be fewer white hearses in the city streets.

It means death to tuberculosis, instead of death by tuberculosis.

A constant, winning fight is being waged against the disease in this city.

I. W. W. RELIGION

The Centralia affair in which radicals fired upon and killed service men while they were parading in celebration of Armistice Day should go far towards proving to service men everywhere that it is their boujien duty to help in the nation wide campaign to eradicate these beasts from our country. The act is typical to the individual member of the I. W. W., and better than anything else in the world, puts him in a true light before all the people. After such an occurrence it is hard to understand why any man can belong to such an organization even though we are told that they are quite strong in the west and do not hesitate to appear in public as a regular organization. A few more such cowardly acts and we will call the I. W. W. by its right name and hunt them out as we do other vermin.

WILL THE MINERS GO TO WORK?

Technically the strike is off but the calling off of the strike is no guarantee that the men will go back to work in a body. On the other hand there is a good reason why they should obey the call of their leaders to return to their places pending the ultimate settlement to be made. The miners will strengthen their case in the public eye by returning to work with a will.

Throughout this region the miners received the news of the calling off of the strike with mingled feelings of disappointment and joy. There is no doubt in the world but that the greater percentage of the men want to go back to work immediately. Living costs are such that a lengthy strike would entail untold suffering on the part of those who have no savings. The time is past when any man with a family can stay on strike without working a hardship to that family. Among them, however, we find an element who are willing to sacrifice anything to gain their demand but happily these are in the minority.

The miner should understand that in the recall of the strike he has not given up any of his demands or made any concessions. His demands still stand and a new scale is to be made. The recall order will have no bearing whatever on what the new scale will be. The miner, the public and all will be better off if production goes ahead while this problem is being solved.

We believe the men will return to work in this region. Not all together but, as is usually the case in these suspensions, within a week.

Government Ownership and Operation Will Demonstrate Its Infeasibility

By John W. Weeks, Former United States Senator From Massachusetts

The labor question is difficult to adjust fairly to the laborer and to the employer, and no less difficult on the farm than elsewhere. The laborer must remember that in the end he is paying for the excessive cost of his own labor.

The cost of living will be high as long as the cost of production is high, and the cost of production will be high as long as the cost of living is high. They have got to move up and down together.

Some classes, like clerks and professional men, do not get the increase in wages to the same degree that the men in the other walks of life do, and it produces hardships and discontent. Then there are men who refuse to work unless they can get the rate of pay they know some one else is getting.

When the city resident feels that he is paying an exorbitant price for some food product, he must remember that the farmer has frequently serious losses which must be added to the cost of production or there will be no production.

Altogether I find a great number of interesting problems in connection with trying to farm as I am doing it. I have a suspicion that those who have told me that farming along the lines I am pursuing cannot be done profitably may be right, but I am going to give it a good test and learn some things from definite experience which are surmised by most people.

If I find that farming under the conditions I am attempting to carry on is a failure from the financial standpoint, is it not reasonable to suppose that even an enterprise of this kind, undertaken on even such a small scale where the labor is not furnished by the employer personally, is a small illustration of the futility of attempting large enterprises under similar conditions as, for example, in matters of government ownership and operation where all labor and all materials used must be purchased?

If the individual cannot do this profitably on a small scale, how is it possible for the government to do it, knowing as we do that every step the government takes is a little more expensive than that taken by a corporation or individual?

I think that it is dawning upon even those who have been advocating government ownership and operation that it is impossible for it to conduct industrial operations economically. Of course the cost, in many cases, may be passed along to the public, and, in all cases, in the end the public pays for the excessive cost, whether the operation is conducted by the farmer, manufacturer, or the government. But if the cost of government production is greater than in the case of a corporation or individual, why should the public be content or willing to accept the general proposition of government ownership and operation?

I am satisfied that, as far as possible, we must get back to the individual who personally conducts his enterprise. The one-man farm will be more popular and more successful than a farm of any other size or character. People must necessarily, with the reduced number of hours which employees work, live more simply, and, perhaps, that result is desirable.

Soft and Sturdy Sweaters

Soft and sturdy yarns, closely and firmly knitted into sweaters and sweater coats with little ornamentation and much warmth—these are the outstanding style features in this year's products. There is a reaction away from strong contrasts in color, but variations in the weave or knitting serves for decoration. Above all the new sweaters and sweater coats look warm; their collars take their cue from those of coats; they are ample and cozy. There is nothing frivolous or inconsequential about these new models; they are business-like, snug-fitting, and neat.

A great many sweaters and sweater coats are knit with caps to match. There are occasional collarless models provided with a scarf in a lighter color and finished with a fringe of yarn. Very long sleeves that are rolled back at the hand, pockets finished with a band in the color of the scarf having a narrow yarn fringe below it, and buttons set close together add dignity to a handsome sweater of this kind. There is a cap to match with a huge but flat pompon made of loops of yarn on the top of it. This is a sweater de luxe, especially when it is knit by hand.

ers into the open air. They are machine knit and made in several colors, blue and gray being the favorites. Very heavy yarns are used for them and most of them are knit with caps to match to accompany the sweater, when skating, tobogganing or other winter sports engage their wearers. The sweater coat pictured buttons up the front with bone buttons and is provided with patch pockets and a belt of the knitted material. It has a rolled collar and depends for ornamentation and snug fit upon variations in its knitting. A border at the bottom, bands on the pockets and cuffs are all put in by running the stitches in a horizontal direction. Worn with a heavy woolen skirt and a hat this sweater will serve for practical wear on the street in the morning and for school.

The gray sweater of very heavy yarn with sailor collar and cap to match, is meant for sports wear. Every athletic girl will see its advantages. The new sweaters may be had in a variety of colors.

BIG RED CROSS PEACE PROGRAM

New Plans of Organization
Bringing It to Every Person
and Home in Country.

AS IMPORTANT AS IN W. R.

Nation-Wide Activity For Improving
Public Health and Expansion of its
Nursing Resources Two Objects.

The peace program of the American Red Cross has just been made public and it is gigantic in its scope. It is so comprehensive that it will bring the activities of the organization into practically every home and into the life of every person in the country.

The Program.

Foremost will be nation-wide activity for the promotion of public health and hand-in-hand with this campaign will go a vigorous campaign for the extension of the country's nursing resources; the broadening of the Red Cross Home Service, which in the war proved so helpful through the assistance it was able to give the families of soldiers and sailors, to be of general usefulness where other social agencies are lacking; greatly increased Junior Red Cross activities; extension of Red Cross facilities for emergency disaster relief; completion of relief measures for the victims of the war in this country and overseas, and preparation to fulfill whatever duties may be laid upon it as the volunteer relief society officially authorized to assist the army and navy.

The plan of the Red Cross public health campaign calls for co-operation with other existing health promotion and disease prevention organizations throughout the United States, acting by itself where no health agency now exists, in an effort to reduce the high mortality due to preventable disease and to improve general health conditions.

The Public Health.

Public health nursing will be one of the important features of this campaign. Red Cross public health nurses will be assigned to as many small communities as possible, thus extending to the rural population the bedside nursing, school inspection, classes in hygiene and home nursing and search for tuberculosis and other preventable disease that has been so effective in the cities and larger towns.

In this connection it is planned to offer to every woman in America instruction in home sanitation, hygiene, care of the sick and dietetics, thus providing first-hand knowledge of how to keep the family well and what to do where illness or accident cannot be avoided. These courses are now being introduced in the public schools and colleges and are offered department store employees, factory operatives, girl scouts, nurses and others, fitting them to help combat infant and child mortality, malnutrition, unsanitary living conditions, preventable disease and epidemics in their own homes.

The seven thousand public health nurses in the United States are far too few to meet the ever-increasing demands for their services.

Home Service.

Home service among the families of American soldiers and sailors has brought out the important fact that in 80 per cent of the places where Home Service is now operating there is no other social work agency. According to there is an imperative demand, national in scope, that this service with its thousands of highly trained workers, be continued and expanded to assist all needy families in communities where other neighborly relief is not at hand.

As always, the Red Cross must hold itself ready for instant relief service in time of public disaster, such as great fires, floods, epidemics, ship wrecks, earthquakes, pestilence, famine and epidemics. Experience in the war and the great organization built up through that emergency will with quickly available funds make this branch of Red Cross activity more effective than ever before.

The Junior Work.

The Junior Red Cross, with its millions of members in the schools, public and private, throughout the United States, has laid plans, calling for $2,000,000 for relief work abroad, the amount constituting 50 per cent of the money the Junior raise, the remainder to be used for local relief in co-operation with Home Service. It is also planned to have the Junior members supplement and assist in the work of the national organization where ever possible, with special regard to the needs of children.

The turning over to the American Red Cross of the surplus medical and surgical supplies and supplies and food stores of the American army abroad, for distribution among the still suffering native populations, together with the foreign relief program's still being carried out largely at Pottery, the Backers and Shermans, Crosses, is the continuance of Red Cross work in overseas.

If there was but one motto in the world a careful cultivator might produce as many as 100 bushels from it in ten years.

Stolen Ride on Mail Train

BY R. S. ALEXANDER

Hunting Eye was standing at the railroad station as a mail train stopped. He had never seen an engine or a train and was much afraid of this new monster. But when he saw men moving about inside the cars he got back his courage and decided he would go into a car and find out about the iron giant.

Barely had he crawled into the car and crouched down into a corner before the train started to move and he was borne rapidly out of the city.

"Here, what are you doing in this car?" asked a clerk as he pulled Hunting Eye out of his corner. "Don't you know better than to try to steal a ride on a mail train?"

"I got on to see what it was about and it started before I could get off."

"Well, we'll put you off at the next town. Sit over there in the corner."

The Indian boy watched the clerks as they sorted the mail, taking the letters and parcels from one sack and throwing them into several others.

"What are those things?" he asked a clerk after the sorting was finished.

"These are letters. A person at one place wants to tell a person at another place something. So he writes it down, puts it into an envelope, puts a stamp on it, and the government carries it where he wishes to send it. The government has a post office in each town where mail is received and sent out."

"The sack of mail we sorted was taken on at the town where you got on. The other sacks will be thrown off at the towns along the way. They will either be sent on to other towns or taken to the post office and the letters and parcels sent out from there."

"Well, we are slowing down for the next town and you must get off."

"Who is at the head of the post office department?"

"In the states have any post office system?"

"How does the government get paid for handling the mails?"

If Backache Or Kidneys Bother

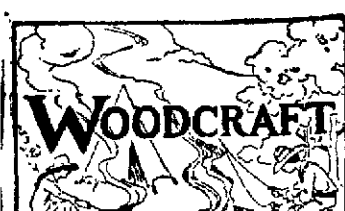

Eat less meat and take a glass of
Salts to flush out Kidneys—
Drink plenty water.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Despite popular supposition, the whale is not a fish. It properly belongs with the mammals, like the cow or horse.

Artillery of the Plants

BY ADELIA BELLE BEARD

The bombardment is going on now, and if our ears were attuned to the fiercer sounds we could hear the boom of the guns, the rush of shells and the rattling of shrapnel as the artillery batteries of each plant army put down their barrage.

Men did not really invent the gun. There were guns as well as airplanes in the plant world long before humans had any idea of such things. And just as nations have fought to acquire land on which to start colonies of their own people, the plant armies invade territory where they cultivate new colonies of their species. For that purpose there are artillery plants which are supplied with guns that shoot. We call them seed-pods, or seed vessels, but why not seed guns, since they were the first guns on this earth?

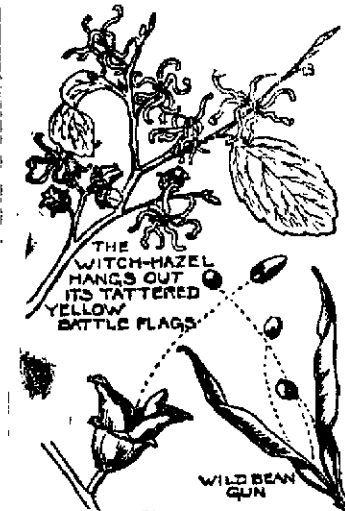

When you begin to investigate you will be surprised to find how many there are.

As a child it was my delight to touch off the cultivated LADY-SLIPPER guns in our garden, hear them pop! and be showered with their tiny seed shrapnel.

All artillery plants do not need outside aid to fire their guns; many guns work automatically and, before one's eyes, they shoot out their seeds to an incredible distance.

The WILD BEAN gun (pod) bursts when fired and throws its ammunition into the air as the two halves coil and spring apart. The CRINKLE WISTARIA employs the same method with a wild scattering of seeds.

But the WITCH-HAZEL, blossoming in the autumn woods, has guns that are veritable "Big Berthas" in their long distance range. When the tagged battle flags of pale yellow blossoms are flung to the breeze the guns are ready for action, and each little nut-shaped gun begins to open at the top. As it opens, its sides press in with such force that the smooth seeds are shot sometimes as far as thirty feet.

THE FOREST MAN

By JACK LAWTON.

The man lay upon a mossy bank, beneath him swirled deep water, while trees interlaced overhead. His upturned face was browned as one accustomed to the open, and its features seemed full of strength and purpose. He frowned now up into the trees, and stretched easily his little frame.

Fishing tackle, and an open book failed to interest in his present dissatisfied mood, he sat up impatiently at last gazing, still scowling, into the water. No sound disturbed the wilderness of green things, rustling alone caused the man to turn his head, and he saw—here! She stood just in the opening, her bronze gold hair gleaming in the sunlight, her blue eyes regarding him, her red lips smiling—an unbelievable, almost unknown vision of a girl.

Throughout his boyhood he had loved wilds like a young animal, and had gloried in his freedom.

That last group of engineers and the books they left him to read brought his awakening. Reading was his joy and relaxation, he was thankful to his father for the one privilege that the strange personality had allowed—making it possible for his isolated son to attend the crude structure at the foot of the hills, called a school house. Dan's learning was accomplished quickly. Pop needed the boy's time for the sawing and piling of logs and the housework of the little cabin. Now that the old man was dead, big Dan bewildered, diffident and fearful of civilization's ridicule, continued in the primitive way.

The girl-vision caught at his breath, and left him speechless. Still smiling, she came toward him and sank down on the grass at his side.

"I've watched and watched you," she said calmly, "and this is the first morning that I've found you idle. Won't the fish bite—or have you all the sketches in your book by memory? You study them so much."

She picked up the book. "Something about forestry—is it not? You read?" she asked mischievously, "yet—you cannot speak?"

Dan cleared his throat, his great hands trembled.

"You—surprised me," he said. "How did you come an' where?"

The vision-girl held out protesting hands. "So you can speak, man," she said, "and you surprise me also—by your accent. It's quite intelligible. But then, old Nannie told me all about you; the nice mother you had, and how she came to this 'end of the world' place, years ago with your father, and all because she loved him." The girl's eyes widened. "That must have been a wonder-love, man," she said, "real love—the only kind—that's fit to marry on." She stopped abruptly and laughed a soft laugh, that somehow stirred the big man's heart.

"I will answer your questions," said the girl. "I came here alone because I was running away. I passed this quiet spot once, when we were touring. And it occurred to me in my plight that it would be a good place to hide in. Old Nannie made us tea that touring time, so I came to stop with Nannie in her shack."

"You've run away!" Dan said slowly, unexpected severity showed in his face and tone.

The vision-girl stared. "You'll tell me just what it was you ran away from—maybe, we ought to know."

"I will tell you," answered the girl impulsively, "because you are kind, and just. Someway—I know this: I ran away from my approaching marriage to a rich man for whom I do not care at all. It was an honor to be chosen by him—my people said so. It was the climax of their ambition. Do you by any chance know what it means to be a copper king? Well, it was the famous copper king who was to make me his wife. Was—but I ran away. Nothing else could save me from his determination. Oh! he is successful and—thrilling, this great man. I don't love him, you see. I'm one of those odd women, your mother's kind, who would glory in giving their all—for love. Without it—the girl held out empty hands; then looked up at the man with frightened eyes. "I had almost forgotten you were here," she said, "that I was talking to you."

"When the scandal and chatter concerning my dramatic disappearance have ceased, I'll go back. Until then, you must let me talk to you, man. Old Nannie says, that I may be able to help you with the books you try to understand. Nannie loves you."

A great light came into Dan's dark eyes. Eagerly he bent toward the girl.

"But I have talked with few women," he said humbly. "Never before, with any woman like you."

"Almost," she said. "I think that I have talked with you—men. Never before, it is again, with one like you. And not long after, in a far away city, excited comment concerning the disappearance of a society beauty, had but lost its first zest, when came the second sensation of the same young woman's betrothal to an unknown man of the wilds."

"Poor Cynthia's father!" the mother sympathized. But the father of Cynthia, the vision-girl, read in smiling relief her letter.

"You will make one of the finest foresters you can find," his daughter wrote, "and I will go with him to the ends of the earth."

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Harry Shefer, of DuBois, came over the mountain range yesterday to spend the balance of the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Shefer at their home on North Filbert street. Incidentally he will fill in two or three days of his stay chasing the cottontails over the stamping ground of his boyhood days.

The Curwensville football team wended their way to Reynoldsville yesterday to try conclusions with a team of huskies on the other side of the Allegheny range. Score 13 to 0 in favor of Curwensville.

George Corners, of Boardman, musician of some note and one of the finest baritone players in Western Pennsylvania, circulated among Curwensville friends several days this week.

The employees of the Elk saw-leather tannery took time by the forelock yesterday and started work at an earlier hour than usual in order to complete their tasks by noon tomorrow to enjoy a half holiday and get into line to celebrate Armistice Day.

John Mamma and wife, Ira Lake, wife and three children, all of Lardig, Fulton county, came to Curwensville by automobile on Saturday and were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Mamma until Monday, when they started on the return trip homeward.

The mining element residing in and about Curwensville were generally well pleased after reading the announcement in last evening's Progress that the strike was at an end and that they would be notified officially within the next few days that they could resume work.

As per announcement the parade of commemoration of the armistice signed one year ago, between the allied powers and Germany took place last evening. The parade line did not contain in numbers what it should have, but those who were in line and the patriotic kick into the march made a very creditable appearance. Had all males who lined the parade walks joined the line it would have nearly reached in length from the Broom place. There was red, white and noise galore, and could not fail to demonstrate to the most callous German sympathizer (if there are any in town) that there is still a spark of the '76 spirit in the bosom of the average Curwensville citizen, and that it will never die out. The soldier boys were prominent by their absence in line, and as one of them, who was "over there" remarked to the writer "We went over and did the fighting, and now you old ducks who stayed at home and watched events from this side of the pond can do the parading and burn all the red fire you want to, but it was hell-fire most of us boys had to face." And by jingo, the lad was about right in his comment. The merchants and others engaged in various businesses observed the day by keeping closed doors from noonline. Summing the whole display up in a nut shell, we can only say that it was a good demonstration for what it was intended to celebrate, and those who had the arrangements in charge on such a short notice, and under the prevailing discouraging circumstances, deserve a good deal of credit. The line formed at junction of West and Filbert streets and promptly at 7 o'clock closed, strolled off westward in the following order:

Crescent Cornet Band
Ladies of the Red Cross
Broom House and Ladder Co.
School Children
(Under escort of teachers and 150 Scouts)

GETTING RESULTS ON ADVERTISING

SOME PEOPLE think ADVERTISING is simply SPENDING MONEY

BUT THE wise man knows IT'S THE surest way to make more.

THE ONLY problem is WHAT MEDIUM to use.

CIRCULARS and hand-bills COST A LOT of money

BUT YOU give them away SO NOBODY wants them

ON THEIR front porches NOR IN their morning mail.

THE SUBSCRIBER PAYS REAL money FOR HIS newspaper

AND THAT'S why he values it MORE HIGHLY THAN A circular.

HE BRINGS his paper home SO THAT every member OF THE family

CAN READ and enjoy its BREEZY, up-to-the-minute news

AND PROFIT by heeding THE HOME-TOWN merchants' BID FOR their trade.

AND THAT'S a good reason FOR ADVERTISING IN A newspaper.

AND NOT only that BUT THE MERCHANT using hand-bills AND CIRCULARS hopes FOR TEN readers

TO THE hundred bills, IF WILLIE delivers the 100.

WHEREAS the newspaper advertiser IS SURE of at least

FOUR READERS to EVERY COPY of the paper

AND THEY all read and heed HIS ADS.

AND THAT'S why he LOOKS pleasant

AND GROWS fat in the BANK ACCOUNT.

BETTER CALL up today AND HAVE our ADVERTISING MANAGER EXPLAIN.

WILL RETURN TO WORK

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12.—It is believed a majority of the miners in the tri-state territory will obey the orders of their chiefs and return to work. The Central Pennsylvania field is reported defiant. Some leaders admit that they are unable to properly ascertain what the miners will do. Coal operators announce that the mines are ready to resume the minute sufficient coal diggers report for work.

WILL DEVELOP ART OF PUBLIC SPEAKING BY BOYS AND GIRLS

Something entirely new in the method of developing public speaking as an asset to the high school boys and girls of the state is being undertaken this year by the extension department of the School of Liberal Arts at the Pennsylvania State College. The work of the college in this line in previous years was confined to debating contests between high schools but this year the activities of the extension department will be centered in declamatory and extemporaneous speaking contests throughout the state.

No other college or university in the country has yet undertaken this method. For the purpose of conducting fair competition in various counties, four districts have been established where the winners of county contests will decide the championships for the respective districts. These winners will in turn be given a trip to State College next spring where the boy and girl champions of the state will be chosen. Final plans have not yet been made but it is probable that boy and girl champions will be chosen in both extemporaneous speaking and declamation.

School superintendents in 35 counties will be asked to endorse the movement and give it their support. When stated, each school will hold contests to determine its best representatives. These will then journey to the county seat where contests will be held on a given date to select the best county speakers. The four districts selected have as their centers the cities of Lock Haven, Lewisburg, DuBois, and Hollidaysburg. When county winners are selected, they will enter a contest in the district center where the winners will be determined for the trip to State College for the final contest.

"THE PAMPHLET" IS SOME MAGAZINE AND WORTH READING

"The Pamphlet," that nifty little publication our journalistic friend, Charles J. Bangert has long been threatening to let loose on a forewarned public at DuBois, has finally reached our desk. We took note of Bangert's early ad for this newest "child of his brain" and had been wondering ever since November 1st whether he had become so sorid that he would expect his newspaper friends to put up good money for his pamphlet, even tho we knew the price stranger would be worth the price asked. The fellow who waits wins and today "The Pamphlet" arrived. As we suspected, she's well worth reading. Bangert is one of the journalistic characters of the "West Branch region," whose tenacious pen during the past twenty five or more years, did more than any other single agency to put DuBois, Falls Creek and that immediate region on the map of worth while communities in this grand old Keystone Commonwealth.

He is at home as a booster but when the occasion requires can "knock" to a fare-you-well. "The November 11, 1919.

Pamphlet" presents a mental photograph of the author and publishes upon everyone of its twenty six pages and the first number is highly creditable.

The booklet is handsomely printed by the Bangert Boys' Print Shop and contains much of interest and many pungent paragraphs, bristling of homely philosophy more or less cynically inclined, with sufficient tang to make them really appreciated.

Here's success to Bangert and "The Pamphlet."

GRASS FLAT BAND GIVES EXCELLENT MUSICAL PRESENTATION

The Grassflat band gave a concert Monday evening, November 11th which was attended by a large crowd. Under the direction of their new leader C. A. Swanson, who is a Grassflat boy, but who has spent many years in other parts of the country, the band has made rapid progress and for the first time in several years has been able to give a concert. It is hoped that this progress will continue and that the band will be able to give better music and more frequently than in the past.

The following program was given:

Overture—Dynamic

Piano Solo—Selected

WESTERN I. W. W.'S. KILL 3 SERVICE
MEN IN ARMISTICE DAY PARADE

during the Armistice Day parade here yesterday Governor Harb has ordered a company of militia here.

The shooting occurred as the parade was passing down the main street near the I. W. W. headquarters. The I. W. W. began shooting from the roof of the buildings and the parade halted and stormed the hall where a quantity of radical literature was taken.

The body of one I. W. W. member "Brick" Smith, still hangs from the bridge early today. The I. W. W. fled from the hall as the service men charged the building.

Smith was said to have fired on the crowd as he fled. He fled over the river bank where he had been chased and shot one man three times through the body, according to reports. This man died instantly. Smith was then overcome and jailed. An attempt to lynch Smith was first made behind the hall. This was thwarted by the police.

Last night all the lights in the vicinity were switched off and the men began to gather before the jail in automobiles. Smith was taken from the jail and hanged. The city undertakers have refused to allow the body to be taken to their establishments.

COAL MINES ARE STILL IDLE

UNION MINERS AWAIT INSTRUCTIONS FROM UNION LEADERS BEFORE RETURN TO WORK

ORDERS WILL COME FROM INDIANAPOLIS DIRECT

BELIEVED FULL PRODUCTION WILL RESULT AS SOON AS LOCALS GET OFFICIAL NOTICE OF RECALL

MAY COME IN TODAY'S MAILBAG

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 12—Coal miners who have been on strike since November 1, were expected by officials of the United Mine Workers of America to start returning to work today. Normal production of coal, union leaders believe, will not be reached for some time. A few miners may even stay out until negotiations which open in Washington Friday are completed. Several district leaders were evidently dissatisfied with the action of the officials in complying with the demands of the United States District Judge that the strike be rescinded. Orders for the rescinding of the strike order were in the mail before six o'clock last night.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Reports of the return to work of striking miners were anxiously awaited by officials here today while Secretary of Labor Wilson went on with his plans for a mediation conference of miners and operators called for Friday. Although on the face, the government believes the miners will resume work as soon as notified of the cancellation of the strike call, there were many who privately expressed the belief that thousands of strikers would remain out as the strike call was revoked under the order of the Federal Court and protest.

JOHNSTOWN, Nov. 12—The union miners in this section are preparing to start to work following orders issued at Indianapolis yesterday that they return to work. Twelve thousand miners are expected to go back tomorrow. The operators say production will be normal by the end of the week.

The union miners of District No. 2 are still idle and no doubt will be until the local unions throughout the district receive orders from the national headquarters to return to work. The district office at Clearfield announced this afternoon that up until late this afternoon it has not received any instructions from Indianapolis as to what procedure to follow to get the men back to work. The district office pointed out that the strike call was sent to the local unions direct from national headquarters and not through the local district office and this being the case they presumed that the recall order will in like manner come from Indianapolis direct to the local unions instead of through President Brophy. However, a different procedure may be outlined when President Brophy arrives here this evening on the evening train.

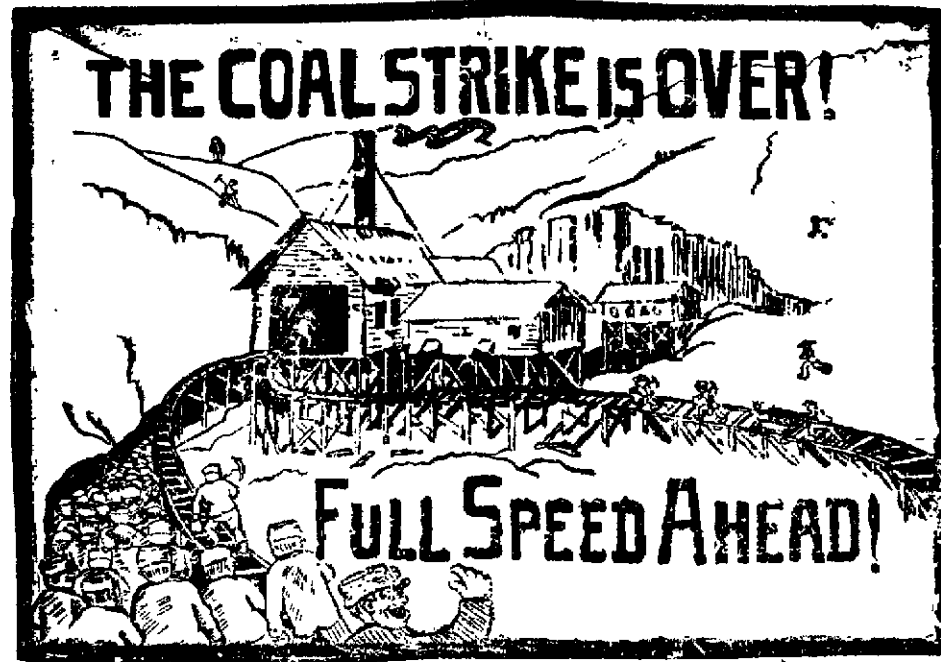

All of the mines in this district blew their whistles for work this morning and had everything in shape to start coal production. This move was not so much from a belief that the miners would return to work as it was to follow out the instructions of the federal government that every opportunity be presented to the miners to go to work. The general statement that all are idle covers the situation although a very few small mines are working through out the district. It is possible that the orders to return to work will be carried in today's mail and that more mines will be in operation tomorrow and that by the end of the week all will be going full swing.

WESTERN I. W. W.'S. KILL 3 SERVICE MEN IN ARMISTICE DAY PARADE

CENTRALIA, WASH., Nov. 12—The fatal shooting of four former soldiers during the Armistice day parade here yesterday was the result of carefully laid plans of I. W. W. leaders. It was revealed in a statement by "Brick" Smith, alleged I. W. W. shortly before he was lynched. The I. W. W. planned to shoot as many of the soldiers as possible.

CENTRALIA, WASH., Nov. 12—Fearing a general outbreak in connection with the killing of three former soldiers and the flogging of four others and the lynching of an alleged I. W. W.

OTTO EPPERS WILL BECOME A REAL CARTOONIST NOW

"The King is dead! Long live the King!" Otto Eppers, the erratic but worth while former "King of the Bootblacks" is "King" no more. Gone from his hands are the implements of the profession in which he acquired his self-styled title. The "King," like his more famous predecessor, Alexander the Great is seeking other worlds to conquer, and having demonstrated by his conduct since coming to our town that he has the stuff in him which warrants a trial twenty-five Clearfield citizens are appreciating Otto's laudable ambition, have granted their willingness to take a chance on "the King" making good and have made it possible for him to follow his mind's bent and attempt to equip himself as a cartoonist.

Otto, as is well known to all familiar with his work in Clearfield, has a great deal of mechanical or artistic skill with brush and pencil and during his service in an army camp in New Jersey was privileged to supply very creditable cartoons for the camp newspaper. Since being mustered out of the service Otto has been working hard in his shoe shining parlor to keep his family and devoting what spare time he could to working on a correspondence course in one of the country's leading schools for cartoonists. His improvement was quite marked and believing that with more time and nothing else to bother him he could overcome the unfortunate lack of opportunity of his ex and make something of himself Otto appealed to his friends for assistance to tide him over his "school days." Clearfield people will help any man to make good and Otto soon found this out. He was last week enabled to close up his shoe parlor and devote all his time to his lessons and is working away with that determination that surely surmounts all obstacles and wins the heights of success.

The Progress has secured a complete outfit for the purpose of assisting "the King" in his efforts and he will thus be given the opportunity of developing his skill by actual cartoon work during the training period. Otto's first effort appeared in Monday evening's Progress. A second will appear at an early date and they will continue from time to time. Here's hoping "the King" conquers in the hard task he has set for himself. He deserves to succeed.

OPERATORS AND MINERS CALLED TO CAPITAL

Secretary Of Labor Wilson On The Job To Close Up Scale Agreement With All Haste

BOTH SIDES RECEPTIVE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—The calling off of the coal strike has lifted a great weight from the mind of official Washington, resulting in an expression on all sides of relief and satisfaction. Everyone was convinced that the crisis had been passed. The government immediately took the initiative to bring the operators and miners together with the result that by 7:30 last night acceptance had been received from both parties, indicating that they would meet Secretary of Labor Wilson in a new conference Friday morning, to reach a settlement of all matters in dispute. By agreement with the other members of the cabinet, Secretary Wilson immediately took steps to bring together in Washington Friday, representatives of both the miners and the mine operators for the purpose of reopening negotiations for a wage scale and new working agreement.

Messages were sent by Secretary Wilson to John L. Lewis, acting president of the U. M. W. of A. and Chairman Thomas T. Brewster, of the coal operators association, asking them and their representatives to meet in Washington Friday.

Harry N. Taylor, president of the National Coal Association, with headquarters in Washington, was also included in Secretary Wilson's invitation, so that the joint meeting of miners and mine operators might be representative of the entire coal industry.

Cabinet officials were of the opinion that it was far better to bring the miners and the mine owners together by proposed conference than to try to settle difficulties by a board of arbitration.

American Federation of Labor officials said that they had no statement to make regarding the recall of the strike order. To say that they were surprised at the recall of the order, after the executive council had endorsed the strike, would be putting it mildly.

Not only were they surprised at the action of President Lewis today, but plainly they were puzzled. It is safe to say that neither President Compton nor any of the other members of the executive council had any idea that the strike would be recalled.

The renewal of negotiations between the miners and the mine operators does not mean, it was said, that all of the miners will return to work.

It is conceded in both camps, and by the operators, that it is likely that some of the miners will refuse to follow the lead of President Lewis and stay out until the negotiations are concluded.

But the general opinion is that the strike is now at an end in fact, as well as in name, and that so many of the miners will go to work that something approaching normal production will be resumed.

UNION MACHINISTS VOTING AS PRELUDE TO EXPECTED RAIL STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Three hundred and seventy-five thousand union machinists in the United States were voting today on a general strike in connection with the railroad labor situation.

"The vote is returnable late this week," said Wm. Johnson, President of the International Machinists' Union. "The question to be settled by the men is whether they shall strike if Congress passed anti-strike and compulsory arbitration legislation now, before it in connection with settling the railroad problems. If I know the machinists, they will quit work the minute this legislation passes," he said.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand union machinists are employed in railroad shops, and as provided in the ballot they would be the first to go out. Later union machinists in all industries would be called out to support them in a sympathetic strike if necessary. The machinists vote is being taken at a time when members of two of the greatest brotherhoods are conferring with Railroad Director Hines. An answer falling short of their demands was given to their agent yesterday it was learned. The president of the brotherhoods are to confer with Hines again today.

NOTED PHYSICIAN WILL LECTURE TOMORROW EVE

DOCTOR M'CREA WILL TELL CITIZENS OF CLEARFIELD COUNTY HOW TO AVOID CONTRACTING TUBERCULOSIS

EVERY MAN AND WOMAN SHOULD GO

It was Doctor McCrea's brother who wrote the now famous poem "On Flanders Field." Maybe the doctor has just as interesting a message for you on Thursday evening so do not miss him.

Do you know that tuberculosis kills annually in the United States 150,000 people?

Do you know that the dreaded "white plague" reaps a victim every three minutes, 20 every hour and 480 every day of the 365 days in each year right here in the good old U. S. A.?

Do you know that there are at least 1,000,000 active cases of tuberculosis in the United States?

Do you know that scientific investigation has revealed that there are 15 cases of tuberculosis for every death, or a total in the country at large of over 2,000,000?

Do you know that no disease is more insidious than tuberculosis? It strikes silently, and often has been long at work before it is discovered. A large percentage of cases are those of persons who do not know they have it. Draft boards and army doctors discovered more than 100,000 cases among the young men caught in the selective service call, the pick of the land.

Do you know that one-third of all who die between the ages of 18 and 45 years are killed by tuberculosis.

If you do not know these facts then you are not only very poorly informed but you are daily laying yourself liable to contact with this dread disease, if not already infected with its poisonous virus.

Contrary to a stubborn popular belief tuberculosis is not an inherited disease.

It is preventable and we are therefore able or should be able to stop this awful sacrifice of lives. But in order to accomplish something along this line we must all cooperate with the agencies that are now fighting tuberculosis. What is needed is education of our people generally, more nurses, dispensaries, sanatoria, hospitals and open air schools, while the undiagnosed cases must all be sought out. To this work the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated state and local associations, which are financed largely by the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, are giving particular attention. It now asks the co-operation of the people of Clearfield in a campaign that will begin with a public meeting in the High School auditorium on Thursday evening, November 13th, and that will not cease until the "Great White Plague" has been effectually stamped out regardless of the time it takes to bring about that much to be desired condition of affairs.

This is the biggest problem confronting the American people today and on Thursday evening Clearfield people will be given the opportunity to hear the biggest man in Pennsylvania on this all-important proposition. He is none other than Doctor Thomas McCrea, Professor of the Practice of Medicine, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia and President of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

This meeting is being held under the auspices of the Clearfield County Public Health Committee and should have the attention of every person interested not alone in the public welfare but the health of himself and his family.

Dr. McCrea has a message you will never regret having heard and he should be greeted by a capacity audience on the occasion of his appearance here.

Dr. McCrea's lecture will be entirely free of charge. Everybody is not only invited but urged to attend. No fees, no collections, just an opportunity to get some first hand information on the greatest menace confronting our people today, from an expert who is devoting all the energies at his command toward the eradication of tuberculosis.

SENATOR MARTIN DIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Senator Martin, of Virginia, died today according to word received by his secretary here. Senator Martin, until his illness which began several months ago, was Democratic leader in the Senate. He carried the administration's problems on the floor during the war and his long hours of intense activity on the Senate floor are believed to have undermined his health and brought on the general break down which resulted in his death today.

STOCK MAINTENANCE RATION

Silage, Corn, Stover, Straw and Unmarketable Hay Should Be Given Cattle to Be Grazed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The greatest obstacle in developing the grazing industry in many eastern and central sections is the cost of wintering the stock. It is impossible to buy young cattle or sheep in the spring in sufficient quantities and at a price to yield a satisfactory profit from the summer grazing.

One of two plans must be followed. A breeding herd may be kept to produce the stock, as is practiced on the ranges of the West, or young stock may be purchased in the fall—the plan followed by the grazers in the bluegrass region of the Virginias and Kentucky. Either method necessitates the wintering of animals.

Light here should be laid down a hard-and-fast rule. Cattle which are to be grazed the following summer should be carried through the winter on a strictly maintenance ration. Silage, corn stover, straw, and unmarketable hay should form its basis. The silage is almost indispensable for economical feeding of such stock. No grain should be fed if it can be avoided. It has been the experience of grazers in the bluegrass region of the Virginias that the winter ration of feed for the period weighing the same as those which made a gain of that amount.

CALCULATIONS OF HOG FEEDS

Light Thrown on Proper Combinations for Different Purposes—Big Aid to Growers.

The calculation of rations with the aid of feeding standards and tables will prove both interesting and profitable, for it will throw much light on the proper combinations of food for different purposes. At the same time it promotes a spirit of inquiry and close observation on the part of the farmer, which is one of the first requisites of a successful feeder.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, yellow skin, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 10c and 25c.

STOP THAT ACHE!

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of that pain and lameness! Use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Many Clearfield people have used them and know how effective they are. Here's a Clearfield case.

Mrs. Paul Kline, 326 Sixth street, gave the following statement December 7th, 1915: "Some years ago I was troubled with pains across the small of my back and my back ached and throbbled all the time. It was painful for me to bend my body in any way and this trouble kept me awake a night. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills so I used some, procuring them at Thatcher's Drug Store. Doan's entirely removed the trouble and since that time, my back and kidneys have given me no annoyance. I gladly recommend this medicine to others suffering that way."

On February 18th, 1919, Mrs. Kline added: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills in some years now. I still think as highly of them as I did when I recommended them in 1915."

JAMES PAIGE ALIVE AND WELL

James Paige a soldier of Boardman, has not been heard from by his family since April 27th at which time he was in China, and, according to his letters expected to soon sail for home. As nothing further was ever heard from him his family was much worried over the lack of news. His parents visited Clearfield and laid the matter before John M. Bain who very obligingly took the matter up with Congressman Evan J. Jones who in a matter of only three days received the information from the war department that Mr. Paige was alive and well with his regiment at the city of Tien Tsin, China. The Paige family had written several letters direct to the War department, but were unable to get any reply. On receiving the good news Mr. Bain immediately tried to get into touch with the Paige family to let them know that their son was alive and well and, as is usually the case the message was bungled and the members of the family were told just the opposite from the truth. Mr. Bain takes this method of advising the friends and family that his knowledge is to the effect that James Paige is alive and well in far off China.

Musterole is a clean, white substance, made with oil of mustard. But it is a mustard plaster and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses strongly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, earache, nose running, headache, chills, fretted feet—outside of the chest (it often cures pneumonia). McGowan, of the Clearfield Athletic club, received a telegram from Johnny Wolgast this morning announcing that he would be on hand tomorrow morning for his scheduled boxing bout at the Clearfield Driving park with Young McCoy, the Baltimore colored scrapper. McCoy is at Altoona and has also assured the manager that he will also arrive in Clearfield tomorrow morning. Both these boys are anxious to get together and this bout should be the best of the season.

DIMELING HOTEL OBSERVES PEACE DAY CHARMINGLY

The Hotel Dimeling was the only Clearfield institution to find time or inclination enough to remember that yesterday, November 11th was Armistice day. Manager McGinnis, the genial hardworking director, read of Clearfield's leading hostelry not only threw his magnificent ball room open for the benefit dance of the local post of the American Legion but arranged a special dinner for "Armistice Day".

The diners were regaled with choice vocal music during the dinner hour. Messrs. R. S. Nightingale and H. J. Brown favouring with a number of choice and patriotic selections. Miss Myrtle Bryan furnished the accompaniment on the piano.

The dinner was given the official municipal sanction or O. K. through the presence as specially invited guests of Mayor Chase, President of Council Fletcher and the Secretary of Council, members of the "table furnishing" department of the borough government.

GOOD WOMAN DIES

NEAR KYLERTOWN

Mrs. Nancy Hipple, the beloved wife of George Hipple, residing near Kylertown, died at the family home on Tuesday, October 28th, 1919. Her death came suddenly, while she was alone in the house, and while her husband was doing some work at the barn. Her death was the result of heart trouble, with which she had been ailing for some time.

Deceased, who was aged about 65 years, spent most of her life in the vicinity where she died, and was beloved by all who knew her because of her many pleasing graces. She was a devoted member of the Baptist church, a most affectionate wife and mother, a kind neighbor and her demise has caused profound sorrow throughout the community. Her maiden name was Miss Nancy Zimmerman.

Besides her husband, she is survived by the following sons and daughters, viz: E. C. Alfred and Paul, residing near Kylertown; Alma, wife of Vernon Peters, of Ambridge, Pa.; Eva, wife of Morton Peters, of Grass Flat, and Ruth, with of Allen Butler of Winburne. She also leaves two brothers and one sister, Miles Zimmerman, of Clearfield; William, residing near Salem, Oregon; and Mrs. Frank Humpton, Betula, Pa. Twelve grandchildren also survive.

The funeral took place on Friday, October 31st, from the family home, and was in charge of Rev. S. A. Farver.

Get into the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Millions of folks bathe internally now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles according to hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which, if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels; the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood, causing headaches, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood, and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Here is a recipe never seen in a cook-book.

Take one under nourished child—add warm wraps—mix with hot milk and real butter—keep in the open air—and the child will serve.

If that recipe is followed, there'll be fewer white hearses in the city streets.

It means death to tuberculosis, instead of death by tuberculosis.

I. W. W. RELIGION

The Centralia affair in which radicals fired upon and killed service men while they were parading in celebration of Armistice Day should go far towards proving to service men everywhere that it is their boujien duty to help in the nation wide campaign to eradicate these beasts from our country. The act is typical to the individual member of the I. W. W., and better than anything else in the world, puts him in a true light before all the people. After such an occurrence it is hard to understand why any man can belong to such an organization even though we are told that they are quite strong in the west and do not hesitate to appear in public as a regular organization. A few more such cowardly acts and we will call the I. W. W. by its right name and hunt them out as we do other vermin.

WILL THE MINERS GO TO WORK?

Technically the strike is off but the calling off of the strike is no guarantee that the men will go back to work in a body. On the other hand there is a good reason why they should obey the call of their leaders to return to their places pending the ultimate settlement to be made. The miners will strengthen their case in the public eye by returning to work with a will.

Throughout this region the miners received the news of the calling off of the strike with mingled feelings of disappointment and joy. There is no doubt in the world but that the greater percentage of the men want to go back to work immediately. Living costs are such that a lengthy strike would entail untold suffering on the part of those who have no savings. The time is past when any man with a family can stay on strike without working a hardship to that family. Among them, however, we find an element who are willing to sacrifice anything to gain their demand but happily these are in the minority.

The miner should understand that in the recall of the strike he has not given up any of his demands or made any concessions. His demands still stand and a new scale is to be made. The recall order will have no bearing whatever on what the new scale will be. The miner, the public and all will be better off if production goes ahead while this problem is being solved.

We believe the men will return to work in this region. Not all together but, as is usually the case in these suspensions, within a week.

Government Ownership and Operation Will Demonstrate Its Infeasibility

By John W. Weeks, Former United States Senator From Massachusetts

The labor question is difficult to adjust fairly to the laborer and to the employer, and no less difficult on the farm than elsewhere. The laborer must remember that in the end he is paying for the excessive cost of his own labor.

The cost of living will be high as long as the cost of production is high, and the cost of production will be high as long as the cost of living is high. They have got to move up and down together.

Some classes, like clerks and professional men, do not get the increase in wages to the same degree that the men in the other walks of life do, and it produces hardships and discontent. Then there are men who refuse to work unless they can get the rate of pay they know some one else is getting.

When the city resident feels that he is paying an exorbitant price for some food product, he must remember that the farmer has frequently serious losses which must be added to the cost of production or there will be no production.

Altogether I find a great number of interesting problems in connection with trying to farm as I am doing it. I have a suspicion that those who have told me that farming along the lines I am pursuing cannot be done profitably may be right, but I am going to give it a good test and learn some things from definite experience which are surmised by most people.

If I find that farming under the conditions I am attempting to carry on is a failure from the financial standpoint, is it not reasonable to suppose that even an enterprise of this kind, undertaken on even such a small scale where the labor is not furnished by the employer personally, is a small illustration of the futility of attempting large enterprises under similar conditions as, for example, in matters of government ownership and operation where all labor and all materials used must be purchased?

If the individual cannot do this profitably on a small scale, how is it possible for the government to do it, knowing as we do that every step the government takes is a little more expensive than that taken by a corporation or individual?

I think that it is dawning upon even those who have been advocating government ownership and operation that it is impossible for it to conduct industrial operations economically. Of course the cost, in many cases, may be passed along to the public, and, in all cases, in the end the public pays for the excessive cost, whether the operation is conducted by the farmer, manufacturer, or the government. But if the cost of government production is greater than in the case of a corporation or individual, why should the public be content or willing to accept the general proposition of government ownership and operation?

I am satisfied that, as far as possible, we must get back to the individual who personally conducts his enterprise. The one-man farm will be more popular and more successful than a farm of any other size or character. People must necessarily, with the reduced number of hours which employees work, live more simply, and, perhaps, that result is desirable.

Soft and Sturdy Sweaters

Soft and sturdy yarns, closely and firmly knitted into sweaters and sweater coats with little ornamentation and much warmth—these are the outstanding style features in this year's products. There is a reaction away from strong contrasts in color, but variations in the weave or knitting serves for decoration. Above all the new sweaters and sweater coats look warm; their collars take their cue from those of coats; they are ample and cozy. There is nothing frivolous or inconsequential about these new models; they are business-like, snug-fitting, and neat.

A great many sweaters and sweater coats are knit with caps to match. There are occasional collarless models provided with a scarf in a lighter color and finished with a fringe of yarn. Very long sleeves that are rolled back at the hand, pockets finished with a band in the color of the scarf having a narrow yarn fringe below it, and buttons set close together add dignity to a handsome sweater of this kind. There is a cap to match with a huge but flat pompon made of loops of yarn on the top of it. This is a sweater de luxe, especially when it is knit by hand.

ers into the open air. They are machine knit and made in several colors, blue and gray being the favorites. Very heavy yarns are used for them and most of them are knit with caps to match to accompany the sweater, when skating, tobogganing or other winter sports engage their wearers. The sweater coat pictured buttons up the front with bone buttons and is provided with patch pockets and a belt of the knitted material. It has a rolled collar and depends for ornamentation and snug fit upon variations in its knitting. A border at the bottom, bands on the pockets and cuffs are all put in by running the stitches in a horizontal direction. Worn with a heavy woolen skirt and a hat this sweater will serve for practical wear on the street in the morning and for school.

The gray sweater of very heavy yarn with sailor collar and cap to match, is meant for sports wear. Every athletic girl will see its advantages. The new sweaters may be had in a variety of colors.

BIG RED CROSS PEACE PROGRAM

New Plans of Organization
Bringing It to Every Person
and Home in Country.

AS IMPORTANT AS IN W. R.

Nation-Wide Activity For Improving
Public Health and Expansion of its
Nursing Resources Two Objects.

The peace program of the American Red Cross has just been made public and it is gigantic in its scope. It is so comprehensive that it will bring the activities of the organization into practically every home and into the life of every person in the country.

The Program.

Foremost will be nation-wide activity for the promotion of public health and hand-in-hand with this campaign will go a vigorous campaign for the extension of the country's nursing resources; the broadening of the Red Cross Home Service, which in the war proved so helpful through the assistance it was able to give the families of soldiers and sailors, to be of general usefulness where other social agencies are lacking; greatly increased Junior Red Cross activities; extension of Red Cross facilities for emergency disaster relief; completion of relief measures for the victims of the war in this country and overseas, and preparation to fulfill whatever duties may be laid upon it as the volunteer relief society officially authorized to assist the army and navy.

The plan of the Red Cross public health campaign calls for co-operation with other existing health promotion and disease prevention organizations throughout the United States, acting by itself where no health agency now exists, in an effort to reduce the high mortality due to preventable disease and to improve general health conditions.

The Public Health.

Public health nursing will be one of the important features of this campaign. Red Cross public health nurses will be assigned to as many small communities as possible, thus extending to the rural population the bedside nursing, school inspection, classes in hygiene and home nursing and search for tuberculosis and other preventable disease that has been so effective in the cities and larger towns.

In this connection it is planned to offer to every woman in America instruction in home sanitation, hygiene, care of the sick and dietetics, thus providing first-hand knowledge of how to keep the family well and what to do where illness or accident cannot be avoided. These courses are now being introduced in the public schools and colleges and are offered department store employees, factory operatives, girl scouts, nurses and others, fitting them to help combat infant and child mortality, malnutrition, unsanitary living conditions, preventable disease and epidemics in their own homes.

The seven thousand public health nurses in the United States are far too few to meet the ever-increasing demands for their services.

Home Service.

Home service among the families of American soldiers and sailors has brought out the important fact that in 80 per cent of the places where Home Service is now operating there is no other social work agency. According to there is an imperative demand, national in scope, that this service with its thousands of highly trained workers, be continued and expanded to assist all needy families in communities where other neighborly relief is not at hand.

As always, the Red Cross must hold itself ready for instant relief service in time of public disaster, such as great fires, floods, epidemics, ship wrecks, earthquakes, pestilence, famine and epidemics. Experience in the war and the great organization built up through that emergency will with quickly available funds make this branch of Red Cross activity more effective than ever before.

The Junior Work.

The Junior Red Cross, with its millions of members in the schools, public and private, throughout the United States, has laid plans, calling for generous relief work abroad, the amount constituting 50 per cent of the money the Junior raise, the remainder to be used for local relief in co-operation with Home Service. It is also planned to have the Junior members supplement and assist in the work of the national organization where ever possible, with special regard to the needs of children.

The turning over to the American Red Cross of the surplus medical and surgical supplies and supplies and food stores of the American army abroad, for distribution among the still suffering native populations, together with the foreign relief program's still being carried out largely at Pottery, the Backers and Shorn, Crosses is the continuance of Red Cross work in overseas.

If there was but one motto in the world a careful cultivator might produce as many as 100 bushels from it in ten years.

Stolen Ride on Mail Train

BY R. S. ALEXANDER

Hunting Eye was standing at the railroad station as a mail train stopped. He had never seen an engine or a train and was much afraid of this new monster. But when he saw men moving about inside the cars he got back his courage and decided he would go into a car and find out about the iron giant.

Barely had he crawled into the car and crouched down into a corner before the train started to move and he was borne rapidly out of the city.

"Here, what are you doing in this car?" asked a clerk as he pulled Hunting Eye out of his corner. "Don't you know better than to try to steal a ride on a mail train?"

"I got on to see what it was about and it started before I could get off."

"Well, we'll put you off at the next town. Sit over there in the corner."

The Indian boy watched the clerks as they sorted the mail, taking the letters and parcels from one sack and throwing them into several others.

"What are those things?" he asked a clerk after the sorting was finished.

"These are letters. A person at one place wants to tell a person at another place something. So he writes it down, puts it into an envelope, puts a stamp on it, and the government carries it where he wishes to send it. The government has a post office in each town where mail is received and sent out."

"The sack of mail we sorted was taken on at the town where you got on. The other sacks will be thrown off at the towns along the way. They will either be sent on to other towns or taken to the post office and the letters and parcels sent out from there."

"Well, we are slowing down for the next town and you must get off."

"Who is at the head of the post office department?"

"In the states have any post office system?"

"How does the government get paid for handling the mails?"

If Backache Or Kidneys Bother

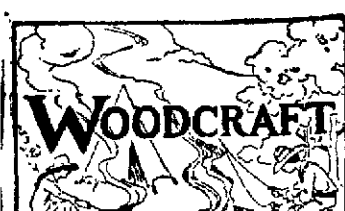

Eat less meat and take a glass of
Salts to flush out Kidneys—
Drink plenty water.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Despite popular supposition, the whale is not a fish. It properly belongs with the mammals, like the cow or horse.

Artillery of the Plants

BY ADELIA BELLE BEARD

The bombardment is going on now, and if our ears were attuned to the fiercer sounds we could hear the boom of the guns, the rush of shells and the rattling of shrapnel as the artillery batteries of each plant army put down their barrage.

Men did not really invent the gun. There were guns as well as airplanes in the plant world long before humans had any idea of such things. And just as nations have fought to acquire land on which to start colonies of their own people, the plant armies invade territory where they cultivate new colonies of their species. For that purpose there are artillery plants which are supplied with guns that shoot. We call them seed-pods, or seed vessels, but why not seed guns, since they were the first guns on this earth?

When you begin to investigate you will be surprised to find how many there are.

As a child it was my delight to touch off the cultivated LADY-SLIPPER guns in our garden, hear them pop! and be showered with their tiny seed shrapnel.

All artillery plants do not need outside aid to fire their guns; many guns work automatically and, before one's eyes, they shoot out their seeds to an incredible distance.

The WILD BEAN gun (pod) bursts when fired and throws its ammunition into the air as the two halves coil and spring apart. The CRINKLE WISTARIA employs the same method with a wild scattering of seeds.

But the WITCH-HAZEL, blossoming in the autumn woods, has guns that are veritable "Big Berthas" in their long distance range. When the tagged battle flags of pale yellow blossoms are flung to the breeze the guns are ready for action, and each little nut-shaped gun begins to open at the top. As it opens, its sides press in with such force that the smooth seeds are shot sometimes as far as thirty feet.

GETTING RESULTS ON ADVERTISING

SOME PEOPLE think ADVERTISING is simply SPENDING MONEY

BUT THE wise man knows IT'S THE surest way to make more.

THE ONLY problem is WHAT MEDIUM to use.

CIRCULARS and hand-bills COST A LOT of money

BUT YOU give them away SO NOBODY wants them

ON THEIR front porches NOR IN their morning mail.

THE SUBSCRIBER PAYS REAL money FOR HIS newspaper

AND THAT'S why he values it MORE HIGHLY THAN A circular.

HE BRINGS his paper home SO THAT every member OF THE family

CAN READ and enjoy its BREEZY, up-to-the-minute news

AND PROFIT by heeding THE HOME-TOWN merchants' BID FOR their trade.

AND THAT'S a good reason FOR ADVERTISING IN A newspaper.

AND NOT only that BUT THE MERCHANT using hand-bills AND CIRCULARS hopes FOR TEN readers

TO THE hundred bills, IF WILLIE delivers the 100.

WHEREAS the newspaper advertiser IS SURE of at least

FOUR READERS to EVERY COPY of the paper

AND THEY all read and heed HIS ADS.

AND THAT'S why he LOOKS pleasant

AND GROWS fat in the BANK ACCOUNT.

BETTER CALL up today AND HAVE our ADVERTISING MANAGER EXPLAIN.

WILL DEVELOP ART OF PUBLIC SPEAKING BY BOYS AND GIRLS

Something entirely new in the method of developing public speaking as an asset to the high school boys and girls of the state is being undertaken this year by the extension department of the School of Liberal Arts at the Pennsylvania State College. The work of the college in this line in previous years was confined to debating contests between high schools but this year the activities of the extension department will be centered in declamatory and extemporaneous speaking contests throughout the state.

No other college or university in the country has yet undertaken this method. For the purpose of conducting fair competition in various counties, four districts have been established where the winners of county contests will decide the championships for the respective districts. These winners will in turn be given a trip to State College next spring where the boy and girl champions of the state will be chosen. Final plans have not yet been made but it is probable that boy and girl champions will be chosen in both extemporaneous speaking and declamation.

School superintendents in 35 counties will be asked to endorse the movement and give it their support. When stated, each school will hold contests to determine its best representatives. These will then journey to the county seat where contests will be held on a given date to select the best county speakers. The four districts selected have as their centers the cities of Lock Haven, Lewisburg, DuBois, and Hollidaysburg. When county winners are selected, they will enter a contest in the district center where the winners will be determined for the trip to State College for the final contest.

"THE PAMPHLET" IS SOME MAGAZINE AND WORTH READING

"The Pamphlet," that nifty little publication our journalistic friend, Charles J. Bangert has long been threatening to let loose on a forewarned public at DuBois, has finally reached our desk. We took note of Bangert's early ad for this newest "child of his brain" and had been wondering ever since November 1st whether he had become so sorid that he would expect his newspaper friends to put up good money for his pamphlet, even tho we knew the price stranger would be worth the price asked. The fellow who waits wins and today "The Pamphlet" arrived.

As we suspected, she's well worth reading. Bangert is one of the journalistic characters of the "West Branch region," whose tenacious pen during the past twenty five or more years, did more than any other single agency to put DuBois, Falls Creek and that immediate region on the map of worth while communities in this grand old Keystone Commonwealth.

He is at home as a booster but when the occasion requires can "knock" to a fare-you-well. "The November 11, 1919.

Pamphlet" presents a mental photograph of the author and publishes upon everyone of its twenty six pages and the first number is highly creditable.

The booklet is handsomely printed by the Bangert Boys' Print Shop and contains much of interest and many pungent paragraphs, bristling of homely philosophy more or less cynically inclined, with sufficient tang to make them really appreciated.

Here's success to Bangert and "The Pamphlet."

WESTERN I. W. W.'S. KILL 3 SERVICE

during the Armistice Day parade here yesterday Governor Harb has ordered a company of militia here.

The shooting occurred as the parade was passing down the main street near the I. W. W. headquarters. The I. W. W. began shooting from the roof of the buildings and the parade halted and stormed the hall where a quantity of radical literature was taken.

The body of one I. W. W. member "Brick" Smith, still hangs from the bridge early today. The I. W. W. fled from the hall as the service men charged the building.

Smith was said to have fired on the crowd as he fled. He fled over the river bank where he had been chased and shot one man three times through the body, according to reports. This man died instantly. Smith was then overcome and jailed. An attempt to lynch Smith was first made behind the hall. This was thwarted by the police.

Last night all the lights in the vicinity were switched off and the men began to gather before the jail in automobiles. Smith was taken from the jail and hanged. The city undertakers have refused to allow the body to be taken to their establishments.
